CCI Aaron S. White Educational Grant

Background

Aaron S. White was born in Raleigh, NC and graduated from North Carolina State University in 1995. After eleven years of service as Executive Director of Cardiovascular Credentialing International, Aaron left CCI to pursue other career goals in November 2014. During his tenure at CCI, he, along with the CCI Board, reached a number of milestones including assisting in the finalization of the conversion to a computer-based testing format, the development of four new credentialing programs, the attainment of ANSI/ISO accreditation for all of CCI's credentialing programs as well as overseeing an increase in staff. Since Aaron's departure, CCI's Board of Trustees and Board of Advisors felt his overwhelming dedication and passion to the industry worthy of a named scholarship.
